

Animals explore winter wonderland

First snowfall brings out curious creatures at Woodland Park Zoo

SEATTLE — While many folks are home today, cozied up by the fire and avoiding the cold, some of Woodland Park Zoo's animals spent the day outside making the most of Seattle's first snow of 2016. Zoo residents including the wolves, red panda, mountain goat, and more spent the morning exploring and playing in the snow. See photos from their snow day fun here, and visit the zoo's blog for additional photos.

Accredited by the Association of Zoos & Aquariums, award-winning Woodland Park Zoo is famed for pioneering naturalistic exhibits and setting international standards for zoos in animal care, conservation and education programs. Woodland Park Zoo is helping to save animals and their habitats through more than 40 field projects in the Pacific Northwest and around the world. By inspiring people to care and act, Woodland Park Zoo is making a difference in our planet's future ecological health and sustainability. Free Wi-Fi is available for zoo guests, made possible through products donated by Cisco. For more information, visit www.zoo.org.

###