

Chow down with zoo animals in new weekly live stream

Woodland Park Zoo launching Super Snack Time on Facebook Live

SEATTLE--Have you ever had lunch with a porcupine? How about a snack with a pot-bellied pig, or perhaps a quick bite with an armadillo? Well, now's your chance — and you don't even have to leave your couch! The zoo is bringing its adorable ambassador animal team inside your home with a new weekly Facebook live stream, Super Snack Time with Woodland Park Zoo presented by Key Bank. Mark your calendar for Tuesdays at 2:00 p.m., it's Super Snack Time!

Every week, an animal keeper will go live on Facebook with an animal buddy, answering your questions, sharing some fun facts, and of course bringing some treats to chow down on! Whether you want to learn more about the star of the show, or just need some extra cuteness in your life, Super Snack Time has your back.

While the zoo is temporarily closed to help keep everyone healthy, ambassador animal keepers are making sure the animals stay physically and mentally engaged even without guests on grounds, so they can be ready for you to meet when the zoo reopens. The animals really enjoy it, too!

WHEN: Every Tuesday at 2:00 p.m., starting April 7.

WHERE: Woodland Park Zoo's Facebook page -- be sure to follow so you can get an alert when the live stream begins! Head to facebook.com/WoodlandParkZooSeattle and click "Like" and "Follow" so you never miss a Super Snack Time!

SUPPORT YOUR ZOO: Woodland Park Zoo needs the community's help. With its gates closed, the loss of earned revenue is devastating. The zoo urgently needs donations to support animal care for the zoo's ambassador animal team and nearly 1,000 other animals. Visit zoo.org/relief to find out how you can help.

###