

Episode 1 of Zoo's new "One Wild World" live virtual series premieres this week

Tune in live October 1 at 12:00PM

WHAT: Mark your calendar! Episode 1: One Care: Animals in Human Care and the Role of Zoos streams live this week. This event is part of Woodland Park Zoo's new series One Wild World: Examining the Intersection of Animals, Humans and Habitats in a Global Pandemic.

This live, virtual series is free to watch and features experts from around the globe offering perspective, education, and solutions to major challenges in wildlife conservation and global health.

Exciting new speakers have been added to the series! See below for the full list.

WHEN: Episode 1: One Care: Animals in Human Care and the Role of Zoos
October 1, 2020 from 12:00 – 1:00 p.m. PDT

WATCH LIVE: www.zoo.org/onewildworldlive

EPIISODE 1 SPEAKERS:

Panel:

Bonnie Baird, PhD, Animal Welfare Scientist at Woodland Park Zoo
Nancy Hawkes, PhD, Director of Animal Care at Woodland Park Zoo
Tim Storms, DVM, Associate Veterinarian at Woodland Park Zoo

Special guests:

Grant Abel, Director of Life Sciences at Seattle Aquarium
Marc Ancrenaz, PhD, Scientific Director at Hutan – Kinabatangan Orang-utan Conservation Programme
Dan Ashe, President and CEO of Association of Zoos & Aquariums
Bonnie Gunn, PhD, Assistant Professor in the Paul G. Allen School of Global Animal Health at Washington State University
Tara Harris, PhD, Director of Conservation and Science at Phoenix Zoo, Coordinator of Association of Zoos & Aquariums Tiger Species Survival Plan and Tiger Conservation Campaign
Wai Yee Lam, Chief Operations Officer at Rimba
Rachel Salant, Curator, Behavioral Husbandry & Ambassador Animals at Woodland Park Zoo
Tara Stoinski, PhD, President and CEO/Chief Scientific Officer of Dian Fossey Gorilla Fund

NEW!

Exciting new speakers have been added to the lineup!

- The Honorable Sally Jewell, US Secretary of the Interior, 2013-17 (Episode 2)
- Philippe Cousteau, Founder EarthEcho International (Episode 2)
- Amy Dickman, PhD, Director of Ruaha Carnivore Project in Tanzania and Kaplan Senior Research Fellow, University of Oxford
- Lucas Joppa, PhD, Chief Environmental Officer at Microsoft (Episode 3)
- Steven Kern, PhD, Deputy Director of Quantitative Sciences, Global Health – Integrated Development, at Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation (Episode 3)

Episode 2: One Northwest: Species and Spaces in the Pacific Northwest When: October 8, 2020, 12:00 – 1:00 p.m. PDT Panel: Jay Julius, Former Chairman and Councilmember of Lummi Nation and President of the indigenous-led nonprofit Se'Si'Le Robert Long, PhD, Senior Conservation Scientist and Director, Living Northwest Program at Woodland Park Zoo Wendy Willette, Detective with Washington Department of Fish and Wildlife Law Enforcement program Special guests: The Honorable Sally Jewell, US Secretary of the Interior, 2013-17 Philippe Cousteau, Founder EarthEcho International Lisa Dabek, PhD, Senior Conservation Scientist and Director of the Papua New Guinea Tree Kangaroo Conservation Program at Woodland Park Zoo Alejandro Grajal, PhD, President and CEO of Woodland Park Zoo Lynda Mapes, Environment Reporter with The Seattle Times Nora Nickum, Ocean Policy Manager at Seattle Aquarium Modi Pontio, Associate Director, Tree Kangaroo Conservation Program – Papua New Guinea	Episode 3: One World: How a Human and an Animal Changed Global Health When: October 15, 2020, 12:00 – 1:00 p.m. PDT Panel: Darin Collins, DVM, Director of Animal Health Programs at Woodland Park Zoo Erin Meyer, PhD, Director of Conservation Programs &amp; Partnerships at Seattle Aquarium Xiaoshun Zeng, PhD, candidate, China Studies Program, Henry M. Jackson School of International Studies, University of Washington Special guests: Bob Ferguson, Washington Attorney General Amy Dickman, PhD, Director of Ruaha Carnivore Project in Tanzania and Kaplan Senior Research Fellow, University of Oxford Lucas Joppa, PhD, Chief Environmental Officer at Microsoft Kae Kawanishi, PhD, General Manager/Head of Conservation, Malaysian Conservation Alliance for Tigers Steven Kern, PhD, Deputy Director of Quantitative Sciences, Global Health – Integrated Development, at Bill &amp; Melinda Gates Foundation Levi Novey, Outreach and Education Specialist at U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service Peter Rabinowitz MD MPH, Professor and Director at University of Washington Center for One Health Research Kerston Swartz, Director of Government Affairs at Woodland Park Zoo
---	--

--	--

VISIT: Zoo.org/OneWildWorld for more information or to access an event calendar reminder

RESOURCES: Visit zoo.org/resources for free discussion prompts and learning resources related to each episode. The prompts will be available beginning Oct. 1 and are specifically designed for middle and high school students and teachers.

INFO: Can't watch live? Visit Zoo.org/OneWildWorld for the full recorded series after the air dates.

Special thanks to U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. One Wild World is broadcast live thanks to PNTA and #SeattleLives.

For more information about Woodland Park Zoo, visit www.zoo.org and follow the zoo on Facebook, Twitter and Instagram.

PNTA Presents...

#SEATTLELIVES

###