

Zoo to You offers fun learning for kids at home!

Turn your at-home classroom into an African savanna, subarctic tundra or even a tropical rain forest! Each week, Woodland Park Zoo's Zoo to You is now bringing your family fun and educational activities for animal lovers of all ages.

Head to zoo.org/zootoyou for creative activities and learning opportunities for the whole family to enjoy at home. There's so much to discover: explore activity packets including word searches, coloring sheets, yoga exercises, virtual backpacks and more. This week, it's all about spiders — learn how to identify all the spider webs around you and even learn a spider dance!

You can even bring Zoomazium right into your living room with blog posts written by early childhood educators. These posts feature lessons, activities and nature learning for families with children ages birth to 8 years old!

Teacher resources: For teacher packets, activity sheets and media resources, visit zoo.org/resources.
